1. Page size and margins
Set page size to A4.
Set margins to 2.5 cm for top, bottom, left, and right.
2. Font and font size
Set font to Times or Times New Roman.
Set font size for the main text to 12.
Set font size for footnotes to 10.
3. Line spacing, text alignment, tabs, and hyphenation
Set line spacing for main text to 2.
Set line spacing for footnotes to 1.
Set text alignment to justified (block text).
Do not use tabs to indent paragraphs or paragraph breaks.
Turn off hyphenation.
4. Text colour and hyperlinks
Set text colour to black.
While hyperlinks can be left active, remove underline.

Section II: Style Notes

Rules
Capitalization
1. Acronyms
EFTA	UNICEF
2. Acts, laws, legal texts
Nowak’s CCPR Commentary	Equal Treatment Directive
Article 130	Georgian Constitution
3. Titles of books and articles
Use headline style capitalization (capitalize the first word and all other significant words):
A River Runs Through It	“In Defence of the Homeland: Post-Colonialism in the Republic of Georgia”
4. Titles
Capitalization should be used if the title refers to a particular person:
King Richard
But not if used as an appositive:
Richard II, the king of England, reigned from 1377 to 1399.
5. Official names of governmental organizations or bodies
National Assembly of France	German Bundestag
But no capitalization of the words, however specific, government and state, or if the institution is being spoken of in general:
The French parliament passed several laws.	The government of Germany signed the treaty.
6. Cardinal directions
Capitalization should only be used when referring to geopolitical and/or cultural regions:
Central and Eastern Europe	Southern Africa
East	West
Global North	Global South
But not for general locations:
northern Germany	southern Argentina

Spelling
1. Spelling forms
Set the document's language to British English or English (United Kingdom).
Use spelling according to the Oxford dictionary (http://oxforddictionaries.com/). However, follow the listed spelling forms:
-ize (e.g., criticize, emphasize, jeopardize, recognize)	-izing (e.g., criticizing, emphasizing, jeopardizing, recognizing)
-lled- (e.g., channelled, labelled, travelled)	-lling- (e.g., channelling, labelling, travelling)
-lyse (e.g., analyse)	-lysing (e.g., analysing)
-mme (e.g., programme)	-our (e.g., neighbour)
defence	enquiry
practice (noun)	practise (verb)
Quotations
1. End punctuation
Always place end punctuation inside quotation marks:
“We will not give in,” said the president.
End punctuation within a quotation replaces the end punctuation of the sentence:
The Congress stated, “Nevertheless, in this situation the limitation could be justified.” ²
2. Double smart quotation marks (“ ”)
Use for direct quotations:
The doctor said, “Take two aspirin and call me in the morning.”
Or for emphasizing single words or phrases, for example, to express a critical attitude:
The label of “ethnic cleansing” has been overly used since the end of the Cold War.
3. Single smart quotation marks (‘ ’)
Use for quoting material within quotations:
The prime minister was considered to have “grossly overextended his power over other ‘leaders’ in the party.”
4. Insertions
Insertions of an author's text into quotations use square brackets []. These are also used to indicate a change of lower case to upper case or vice versa:
The Court continued by stating that “[t]here is no suggestion that he [the father] is in any way unfit.”

Omission of words or sentences in quotations use square brackets surrounding an ellipsis and are offset by spaces on both sides:
“There is no suggestion in the present case [...] that the father is in any way unfit to have access.”
Dates
1. European date format
23 September 1991
Do not use only numbers for dates:
23.09.91
2. Spans of dates
Link with an en dash (not a hyphen):
The Helsinki Summit (2–8 June 1989) was the culmination of past endeavours.
3. Spans of years
Use full year span:
During the period 1990–1995, growth was considerable in the country.
For consecutive years, use a forward slash:
In 1978/79, political tension grew among the elite.
4. Decades
Use an “s” without an apostrophe:
1960s	In the 1980s, NGOs were considerably active.
5. Centuries
Spelled out and all lower case:
twentieth century
As an adjective, insert a hyphen:
twentieth-century art
Figures
1. Numbers
Spell out numbers up to ten unless in the case of using numbers greater than ten in the same sentence:
There were 9 boys and 15 girls in the class.

Use a comma separator with numbers over one thousand:
4,000	1,567,344
2. Percentages
When referring to statistical data, use numbers and per cent instead of the sign %:
65 per cent	22.3 per cent
3. Fractions
Write out in full unless in a list of statistics:
Two-thirds of the people believed the media reports to be true.
Use a hyphen in the noun, adverbial, and adjectival forms:
two-thirds complete	a one-third increase
4. Currencies
Use the three-letter abbreviations (refer to http://www.oanda.com/convert/classic):
GBP 3,300	CHF 55,000
5. Page numbers
Link with an en dash and repeat the full numerals:
124–135	337–398
Abbreviations and Acronyms
1. Abbreviations
Abbreviations are generally followed by a period:
Doc.	Cf.
no.	vol.
ed. / eds.	para. / paras.
But no period after abbreviations and acronyms that are capitalized:
ECHR	WHO
US	UK
2. Acronyms
Acronyms are always introduced when first mentioned in the text:
The American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) was founded in 1920. The original focus of the ACLU was the freedom of speech, specifically concerning anti-war protesting.

If the acronym is taken from the original name, provide it in parentheses together with the original name following the English form:
Democratic Convention of Romania (Conventia Democrata Romana, CDR) Colons, Commas, and Dashes
1. Colons
Phrases or words following a colon should be lower case unless a proper noun:
The members of the government included the following: the president, cabinet ministers, and parliamentarians. 2. Commas
Use the serial comma in a list of items:
The flags of China, Norway, Spain, and the UK contain the colour red. 3. Dashes
Use en dashes offset by spaces on both sides to enclose elements that need greater emphasis than with commas:
The adoption of a minority law – notwithstanding the questions remaining regarding its implementation – was received favourably.
Hyphens
1. Prefixes
Prefixes that do not exist as separate words must be joined to the following word either by being conjoined or by hyphenation. interethnic	ex-president
co-decided	cooperation
multiethnic	supranational
transborder	transnational
2. Hyphenated forms Second element of the compound is capitalized:
pan-European	anti-Maastricht
Compound adjectives:
ten-year plan	eighteenth-century invention
Certain noun forms:
power-sharing	decision-making

Do not use a hyphen in adverb + adjective combinations when the meaning is clear:
a highly appreciated negotiator
Italics
1. Foreign phrases or words
Italicize foreign phrases or words:
mezhdunarodniki	doitsu
Provide a translation in parentheses following the term:
The word used was not une poêle (frying pan) but un poêle (stove).
German has two terms for eating – one for the way humans eat (essen) and another for the way animals eat (fressen).
Foreign phrases or words that have become part of common usage in English do not need to be italicized:
coup d'état	manga
Proper nouns are not italicized:
École normale supérieure	Deutsche Nationalbibliothek
2. Latin expressions
Common forms are not italicized:
ad hoc	inter alia
de facto	de jure
per se	sui generis
Abbreviated forms are not italicized:
Ibid.	i.e.
e.g.	et al.

Section III: Referencing

Rules
1. Punctuation
All citations end with a period.
⁹ R. Clogg, Religion, in: G. Hewitt (ed.) The Abkhazians , New York 1998, pp. 204–217.
2. Notation
Notation can be either footnotes or endnotes.
Notation symbols should be consecutive numbers and follow punctuation marks:
Despite the crisis, the legislature assured that “no emergency powers would be implemented.” ⁴
3. Author names
Shorten author’s names by using only the initial(s) of the first name:
K. Malfliet	P. van Dijk and G.J.H. van Hoof
4. Place of publication
Provide only one place of publication for each source. Use the headquarters of the publishing house if there are multiple places of publication. If the place of publication could be confused with another, add the abbreviation of the state, province, or country:
Cambridge, MA	Cambridge, UK
5. Pages
Use p. for a single page and pp. for a span of pages:
p. 5	pp. 4–18
6. Author/title short form
When there is more than one source by the same author, use a short form of the title with the author’s last name: Author, Short Title, Page(s).
⁹ S.E. Cornell, Autonomy and Conflict: Ethnoterritoriality and Separatism in the South Caucasus – Cases in Georgia , Uppsala 2002, pp. 185–186. ¹⁰ S.E. Cornell, Azerbaijan since Independence , New York 2011, pp. 400–423. ¹¹ Cornell, Autonomy and Conflict , pp. 210–211.
7. Duplicate sources
When there is a consecutive reference to the preceding footnote, use ibid. (page numbers may vary):

⁸ International Crisis Group, Abkhazia Today, Europe Report 176 (2006), pp. 1–33.

⁹ Ibid., 2–3.

8. More than one citation

For easier readability, citations can be consolidated into one footnote where appropriate. Footnotes with more than one citation should be alphabetized according to the first letter of the last name of the first author, or in the case of corporate authors the first letter of the author. Each source should be separated by a semi-colon:

⁷ V. Chirikba, An Abkhaz Perspective: Abkhazia after Kosovo, Russian Analytical Digest 40 (2008), pp. 14–16; R. Clogg, Religion, in: G. Hewitt (ed.) The Abkhazians, New York 1998, pp. 204–217.

If Ibid. is used in reference to a preceding footnote, place Ibid. first in the footnote with the following citations alphabetized after:

¹¹ T. Trier, H. Lohm and D. Szakonyi, Under Siege: Interethnic Relations in Abkhazia, London 2010, p. 23.
¹² Ibid., 17; E. Auch, The Abkhazia Conflict in Historical Perspective, OSCE Yearbook (2004), pp. 221–235; R. Clogg, The Politics of Identity in Post-Soviet Abkhazia: Managing Diversity and Unresolved Conflict, in: Nationalities Papers 36 (1998) 2, pp. 305–329.

9. Introductory signals, explanatory statements, and select pages

When drawing attention to a specific supportive source, use see:

³ See K. Malfliet et al., Minorities in Central and Eastern Europe: The Link Between Domestic Policy, Foreign Policy and European Integration, Leuven 1998.

When drawing attention to a specific source that contradicts the argument, use cf.:

¹⁴ Cf. B. Fawcett (ed.), Practice and Research in Social Work: Postmodern Feminist Perspectives, London 2000, pp. 65–66.

Explanatory statements in footnotes should be placed before sources surrounded by parentheses:

² According currently to the Georgian government, the regions making up Abkhazia and South Ossetia, despite de facto secession, are considered “occupied territories of Georgia” (Government of Georgia, About Georgia, 2010, <http://gov.ge> (accessed 2 August 2012)).

When drawing attention to a specific page(s), use at:

⁹ S. Lak’oba, History: 18th Century–1917, in: G. Hewitt (ed.), The Abkhazians, New York 1998, pp. 67–88, at 72–74.

10. Secondary sources

When using secondary sources, provide both the original and secondary source:

⁹ L. Zukofsky, Sincerity and Objectification, in: Poetry 37 (February 1931), p. 269, quoted in: B. Costello, Marianne Moore: Imaginary Possessions, Cambridge, MA 1981, p. 78.

11. Non-English Sources

When utilizing non-English sources, follow the same rules as provided for the English.
